

AMA at the university's opening ceremony on Oct 1st where the university welcomed the class of 2013. These undergrads also find out about AMA's scholarships at this event. From left to right: AMA's Sylvie, Peter, Huong, Claire, Miss Phuong the head of student affairs from the school, Vy, Ashwin, and Vice Rector Mr. Dang.

From the above photo, one can see the recognition of AMA's contributions to the university from the sign located at the upper right hand corner. We are proud of ourselves and our donors. It has been a long and worthwhile journey for us all so far.

There are 8 students to one small dorm room, with 2 bunk beds on each side. Students consider themselves lucky if they get housing from the university.

AMA's Huong and Claire took a photo with a new student at the university. Only 300 students qualify for housing out of about 3,400 new undergrads annually. Others need to find their own housing in the city, which is very challenging and expensive.

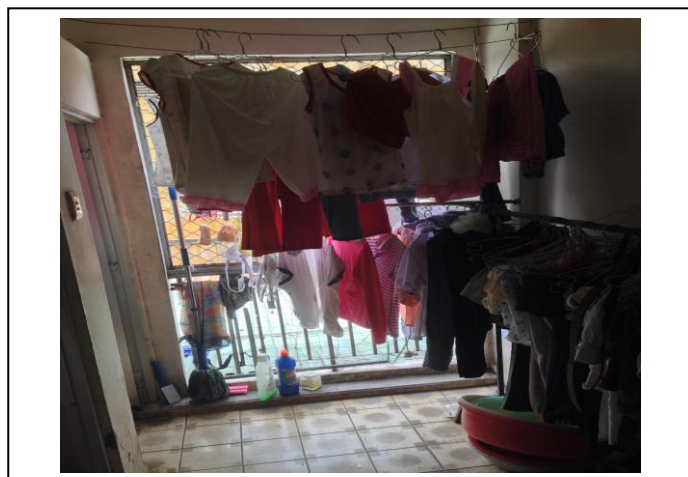

Above is the kitchen shared by the 8 students.

Left side is the shower room and right side is the toilet. Both are shared by the 8 students.

The common area is where students gather and study together. It is simple but clean.

The 8 students share this small space in front of the toilet to hang dry their clothes.

The courtyard is simple but peaceful. You can see more dorm rooms behind the students.
